

Macrosaurus buddy sprites

Every dinosaur and every animation currently in the app - reference sheet for new animation work

THE FORMAT

Every strip is a horizontal PNG sprite sheet. Frame size is 24 x 24 pixels, so $\text{frameCount} = \text{imageWidth} / 24$.

Frames run left to right with no padding, no margin, and a transparent background.

Sprites sit on a shared baseline: a dinosaur leaves 3 empty pixel rows below its feet, an egg leaves 4.

The app plays a strip with one CSS keyframe - `translateX` of the strip width, stepped into whole frames - so any new animation only has to match the 24 x 24 grid and the baseline to drop straight in.

WHAT EXISTS TODAY

12 species x 2 colourways (female, male) = 24 variants, 341 PNG files, ~1.4 MB total.

Each complete variant ships 15 strips: 10 body (base), 3 egg, 2 ghost.

The male colourway of Doux, Mort, Taro and Vita is missing idle, move, dash, hurt and kick, so those four are offered female-only in the app and cannot be recoloured.

One extra strip exists outside the pack: female/doux base/coma, a generated belly-up pose, unused.

HOW THE APP USES THEM

Resting: base/idle, at 5 fps, on every surface.

Flourishes on Today, chosen by what the day looks like: scan (nothing logged), move (part-logged), jump (day closed), dash (first day back). One every 7-15 seconds, then straight back to idle.

Fight: bite on strike, hurt when hit, dead on loss, jump on win - enemies use the same pack, hue-shifted.

Egg: move while incubating, then crack then hatch as a one-shot sequence, then reveal on base/idle.

Never used yet: ghost/idle, ghost/move, base/kick, base/avoid.

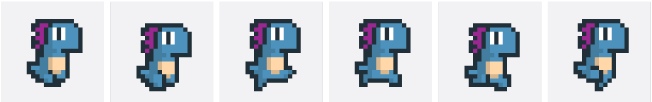

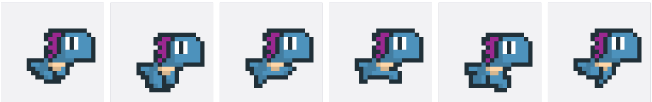

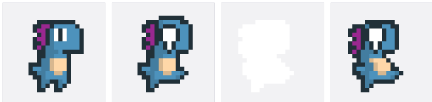

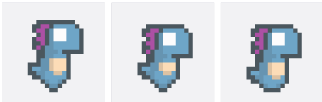

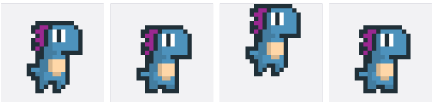

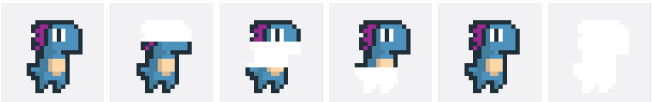

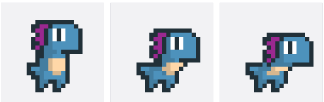

Coverage matrix

Filled = strip ships today. Empty = missing. Read down a column to see what a variant is short of.
